NORDIC SEMINAR

GENDER AND VISIONS IN RESEARCH POLICY

29-30 September 2004, Helsinki

A Nordic seminar on current research policy from the perspective of gender research will be arranged in September. The seminar is organised jointly by the Finnish Ministry of Education, the Academy of Finland (i.e. the national research council organisation) and NIKK, the Nordic Institute for Women's Studies and Gender Research.

Central actors within national, Nordic and European research policy are invited to participate in a dialogue on the status and future of gender perspectives within research. The new research policy tends to emphasize large projects, and the question is how, for example, cross-disciplinary fields, or those with social interests to explore, fit these new models or priorities.

What forms will, for example, the financing of Nordic gender research take in future?

These are some of the issues that will be discussed at the seminar.

English will be the main working language of the seminar.

This is a prior notice - please reserve 29-30 September 2004 for Nordic and European research policy!

The seminar is expected to be attended by 70-100 participants; invitations will be sent in May.

Information on the seminar will also be posted on NIKK's web site, please see http://www.nikk.uio.no/arrangementer/konferens/forskningspolitik_e.html
